Builder designs couple's dream home

By Elizabeth Bennett

For Ron and Heather Sisson, building their country home was the culmination of 10 years of planning and dreaming. While living in Southern California, they had visited numerous homes that were for sale or newly built, noting what features they liked.

When they moved to Olympia, they had a distinct floor plan in mind. All it took was the right person to translate their dreams and make them a reality. That's when they met Mike Cohen, owner of MC Construction Consultant Inc.

"Mike came highly recommended by a friend who's an engineer," Ron said. "When I contacted Mike, he said he had the perfect property for the house we envisioned. He spent a lot of time listening to what we wanted, and we wound up with the exact dream home."

The 2,396-square-foot home has two levels, three bedrooms, family room, great room and den, which is a room that Ron immediately claimed as his private domain.

"It has a big screen TV with surround sound and I've decorated it the way I wanted."

Heather has her favorite spot as well: the master bathroom. When it's been a tough day, she retires to the large Jacuzzi tub, turns on some music, lights a few candles and relaxes.

"A couple times a week I'll run a bath for her and she'll disappear for awhile. She can read a book, have a glass of wine and unwind."

The couple's two children also have their space, Ron said. "The downstairs family room is theirs. That's where they have their toys, computer and TV, so it's a pretty neat escape for them."

Also downstairs are the children's separate bedrooms, the utility room, a full bathroom and a darkroom for Heather, who enjoys processing her own black and white photographs.

The entire family enjoys the deck that can be accessed from the master bedroom, great room and dining room.

"We have a phenomenal view of the wetlands, plus we can sit on the deck and watch the sun set over the trees every night," Ron said.

Their view includes Ron's parents and grandmother's home, which was also built by MC Construction.

"It's great living close to the folks and it's good for the kids because they get a lot of exposure to family. When the kids want to go see them, we can watch them walk over there. It's great living out here."
